

Safe and Supportive Schools Program Behavioral Threat Assessment and Management

The Killeen Independent School District student behavioral threat assessment and management process was initiated to comply with Texas Senate Bill 11 mandates and to align our safety and security plans with best-in-class violence prevention initiatives.

Our Focus and Goals

The district understands how important it is to respond to safety concerns early on before they escalate. Concerning behavior indicators may be expressed in a variety of ways, including social media activity, verbal or written statements and student outcries.

The goal of our behavioral threat assessment and management program is to implement formal processes to recognize, report and assess concerning behaviors so that effective management strategies can be implemented to help de-escalate concerning behaviors.

Adapted from evidence-based research models designed to prevent violence and resolve conflicts or problems that underlie behavior, KISD's program is non-punitive and entirely separate from existing disciplinary or criminal violation consequences.

REPORTING CONCERNING BEHAVIOR

Reports of threat or any concerning behavior can be filed anonymously by completing the Bullying or Threat Reporter.

Reporting Concerning Behavior

Our program's framework promotes active involvement from our staff, students, parents and the community because safety and security impacts us all. We encourage active involvement by asking all stakeholders to report any threats they see and hear through our bullying or threat reporting tool.

The primary purpose of the Bullying and Threat Reporter is to prevent targeted violence by analyzing the facts and behaviors in a given situation. Reports of concerning behavior can be filed anonymously through the reporting tool. To prevent a potential threat from escalating or possibly starting, review some Tips for Identifying Potential Threats.

Safe and Supportive Schools Program Behavioral Threat Assessment and Management

All reported incidences are investigated for potentially harmful or lethal behavior. Investigations will determine the level of risk/concern, assess required action and organize any necessary resources and student support strategies.
